Were Holocene large slumps in Lake Geneva off the city of Lausanne caused by fault activity?

Jehanne Correia Demand (1), François Marillier(1), Katrina Kremer(2,3), and Stéphanie Girardclos (2,3)

References

Acknowledgments

The authors acknowledge the assistance of the “Laboratoire d’Etude du bassin de Chesalles” of the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology in Zurich. The assistance of the Swiss Federal Forest Service is gratefully acknowledged. The authors gratefully acknowledge the help of the Swiss Federal Forest Service and the Swiss Federal Office for the Environment.

Jehanne Correia Demand (1), François Marillier(1), Katrina Kremer(2,3), and Stéphanie Girardclos (2,3)

Institute of Earth Sciences

UNIL, Université de Lausanne