

Joctan Lopes is a marine and fisheries ecologist (PhD candidate, MNHN – Sorbonne Université), has been engaged in Small-Scale Fisheries for over 8 years. His focus is on transdisciplinary approaches to fisheries dynamics, socio-ecological systems, and climate security, as well as local traditional knowledge and digital transformation in Indo-Pacific countries.

